SOVIET TREATY O. K. MAY HOLD BLOW TO ITALY

Some Of American Troops See Speedier Return To U. S. Under Act

By The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Russia's ratification of the Italian peace treaty was seen today as a possible prelude to fresh Communist headaches for the struggling Italian government.

The Soviet action came as a surprise to American officials, who had expected it to be delayed considerably longer. But to at least some of the estimated 20,000 American troops in Italy it was welcome news that boosted hope of a speedier return to the U. S.

Under the treaty, all but 5,000 American troops must be withdrawn 90 days after formal ratification notice is deposited in Paris by all signatories. The 5,000 G.I.'s, together with the same number of British and Yugoslav troops, will be maintained in the international zone of Trieste.

Fear Communist Drive

Some American officials expressed fear that removal of strong American and British forces will encourage the Italian Communist minority to adopt more militant tactics to embarrass the present government. Some Italian officials are known to share their concern.

Most surplus G.I.'s in Italy probably will be sent to Germany and Austria to bolster the U. S. occupation zones there. But men with only a little time left to serve may be returned home directly.

The War Department is expected to have an early announcement of its plans.

Soviet ratification of the Italian pact, as well as the Romanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian treaties, was announced by the Moscow radio late yesterday. The U. S. Senate ratified the pacts several months ago.

The Supreme Soviet presidium also approved the Finnish treaty, to which the U. S. is not a signatory.

Had Dropped Plans

The War Department only recently dropped its plans for any military evacuation of Italy and was set to stay on through the winter. That decision reportedly was based on the belief that Russia had no immediate intention of ratifying the Italian and Balkan peace pacts.

Diplomatic officials point out that under the treaty terms Russia can keep an unspecified number of troops in Hungary and Romania to maintain lines of communications with the Soviet zone in Austria. The number of Soviet troops to be held on in Hungary is expected to be high, since the Communists only now are increasing their grip on that government.

State Department sources pointed out that withdrawal of Soviet forces from Bulgaria still would leave a strong Communist-dominated government there.

The Hungarian, Romanian and Bulgarian treaties do not come into force until 90 days after the ratification notices are deposited in Moscow by the signatory governments. Under terms of those treaties and the Italian pact, occupying forces can be withdrawn any time before the 90-day period ends.

From Romania, Russia takes the eastern border province of Bessarabia. From Finland, she takes the northern port and province of Petsamo and a 50-year-lease on Perkkala-Udd for a naval base.

Russia Accuses U. S.

BERLIN, Aug. 30 — Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet military commander in Germany, today accused the United States and Britain of "dismembering Germany" and "rupturing the Potsdam agreement" by raising the level of industry in western Germany.

CITY'S PREPARED FOR WATER STOP

3 Special Officers To Guard Valuable Plant Equipment

Preparing for a 24-hour Labor Day shutdown of the City Water Works Department pumping and filtration departments, the municipality has assigned three special officers to guard the plant's valuable equipment from midnight Sunday until midnight Monday.

The plant will be out of operation if pump and filter operators follow through on their announced plan to "take a holiday" as a result of a long-standing dispute over their holiday wage rate that remains unsettled. "As far as I know, the men aren't going to work Monday," Mayor O. Earl Greenawalt said today when queried.

However, the operators have received instructions to fill reservoirs and standpipes to capacity before work halts Sunday midnight —providing a backlog of about 6,600,000 gallons against the city's normal consumption of about 3,500,000 gallons in a 24-hour period. In a similar shutdown over July Fourth, all the basins still held water when pumping resumed.

Safety-Service Director Charles Kidd has urged that the municipality's 6,500 water customers hold useage to a minimum and that they postpone lawn sprinkling and other unnecessary drains on the supply. With a good share of the population out of town for the holiday, officials expect water use may be less than normal.

Centering on a difference of opinion over the method of computing double-time pay, the controversy involves between $2 and $3 for each man who works on the holiday. The city employees' union advised Mr. Kidd Monday the workers would "take a holiday" unless they were paid at "full doubletime wages", but he replied that the Board of Control has no authority to act on the question and told the workers to "act as you see fit" but "accept full responsibility".

Special officers will take over guard duty at the plant at midnight tomorrow if work ceases. Officer Robert Duffy has been assigned to duty from midnight to 8 a. m., Officer Lawrence Applegate from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Officer DeWalt Taylor from 4 p. m. to midnight.

CHILD HURT AS HEAVY URN TOPPLES IN PLAY

A 2½-year-old Grant St. child was in "poor" condition today at City Hospital with abdominal injuries suffered Thursday afternoon when struck by a heavy metal and concrete urn that toppled onto him as he played at a relative's home near Stop 55.

He is Charles Kapp, son of Atty. and Mrs. Robert Kapp, 314 Grant St., who underwent an operation Friday afternoon.

The garden urn toppled onto the youngster about 3:45 p. m. Thursday, pinning him to the ground. Only a few feet away at the time of the mishap, his mother freed the child by rolling away the urn.

POTTERY PARLEY MAY EXTEND OVER HOLIDAY

Representatives of pottery labor and management continued their wage negotiations into the fifth day today at Pittsburgh, but a spokesman commented an agreement "has not started to crystallize yet".

Emerging from their talks in joint session behind closed doors this morning, the two organizations said they "do not know" if the negotiations will continue over the week end.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO ON MIDLAND STREETS

21 Month-Old Boy Is Victim; Inquest Set Tuesday

Special To The Review.

MIDLAND, Aug. 30—Twenty-one-month-old Johnny Orlando, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danial Orlando, 719 Midland Ave., was struck and killed by an automobile Friday about noon.

Police said the car was driven by George Ordick, employee of the Crucible Steel Co. who was headed west on Midland Ave. in the 700 block, when the boy suddenly appeared from between two parked automobiles.

Eye-witnesses said the boy was knocked down by the right front bumper. The child apparently rolled under the car and was run over the neck and head by the left rear wheel.

The boy was removed to the Emergency Hospital of the Crucible Steel Co., where he died about five minutes later.

A coroner's inquest will be held on Tuesday, probably at the local police station.

Wartime WASP Leads Dash From California To Ohio In Bid For Air Award

By The Associated Press.

VAN NUYS, Calif., Aug 30 — Pretty June Page Halvacek, a wartime WASP, sent the Bendix trophy dash off to a flying, but early start today.

Anxious to get to Cleveland to participate in another event of the National Air Races today, Mrs. Halvacek received permission from the other pilots to depart during the night. Her plane took off at 4:36.15 a. m. (Pacific standard time). Officials at Metropolitan Airport reported favorable tail winds all the way to Cleveland.

The official take-off was set for 7 a. m. (Pacific time), with 12 other planes ready to roar away in quest of the trophy and awards totaling $25,000. The winner is figured on an elapsed time basis.

Maj. Clay Albright of El Reno, Okla., flying the first of four Army P-80 jet planes making the trip, but not in competition with the reciprocal engines, was off at 6:55 a. m.

William F. Eddy of La Jolla, Calif., who finished fourth in last year's race, was away at 7:01 a. m.

William P. Lear, 18-year-old North Hollywood pilot, whose gasoline was furnished by Milton Reynolds, who sponsored the round-the-world flight of the A-26 Bombshell, was off at 7:07 a. m. His plane bore the legend Little Bombshell.

James Ruble of Houston, Tex., whose backer is Glenn McCarthy, Houston (Tex.) oil man, was off at 7:12 a. m., but dropped a wing tank on the runway on the take-off.

The tank split as it hit the ground and caught fire, burning fiercely. Fire trucks controlled the blaze within a few moments, and hauled the crushed shell off the runway.

Ruble's plane swerved sharply as the tank fell, but he righted it and continued on. The tank contained about 165 gallons of gasoline of the 1,400 gallons he had aboard for the flight, cutting his chances of being able to reach Cleveland at full speed.

Riding on his converted P-38's stubby wings is $10,000, which McCarthy had posted on Ruble's chances of beating Paul Mantz, last year's winner and the favorite this year.

Bruce A. Gimbel of Greenwich, Conn., flying the P-51 in which Jacqueline Cochran finished second a year ago, was off at 7:22½, without incident. Miss Cochran, after debating almost to the last minute whether to fly the craft herself, finally decided to turn the controls over to Gimbel, already named as her alternate.

Tommy Mayson of Van Nuys, Mantz' partner and third finisher a year ago, was off at 7:25½.

Mantz was wearing brown slacks, a brown sports coat and a rainbow-hued tie—a thoroughly colorful figure as he stepped into his plane. Disdaining to save the 40 gallons maintenance experts estimated it cost to taxi to the starting line rather than be towed, Mantz gunned his plane to the end of the runway. His wheels left the ground at 7:33 a. m.

CITY WILL RELAX OVER LABOR DAY

Heavy Traffic Evident With Fair Weather Promised

In what is traditionally the last fling of summer, East Liverpool district residents will take it easy Monday with virtually all industry, business and commerce suspended for the Labor Day holiday.

East Liverpool has not had an organized observance for years and none is planned this time.

Although pools, parks and recreation centers customarily close the season on Labor Day, two will remain open. Thompson Park Pool will be open through Sept. 7, and Tomlinson Run Park at Pughtown will extend swimming and picnic facilities indefinitely.

Rock Springs Park at Chester will shut down at the end of Labor Day.

Because of a three-day holiday week end for many, drivers were beginning to jam the highways and John D. Hill, manager of the East Liverpool-Chester Bridge, said the steady stream of cars Friday and today indicated the biggest week end in the history of the state-owned span. Cars were bumper to bumper through the Diamond this morning.

The heavy travel was induced, too, by the promise from the Weather Bureau of mid-summer temperatures and sunny skies for most of the nation through Labor Day.

It will be a holiday for most of the district's pottery workers, as plants will hold operations to a minimum. Labor Day is one of the

Stores Open Wednesday

East Liverpool stores will skip their customary midweek half-holiday and remain open all day Wednesday because they will be closed Monday for Labor Day, the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce reminded district shoppers today. Instead of closing their doors at noon Wednesday, the business places will remain open until 5 p. m., the usual weekday closing time. The procedure is followed in every week in which the stores close for a national holiday.

WHITNEY ASKS PROBE IN RAIL CAR SHORTAGE

Trainmen's Head Demands Action In Clark Note

By The United Press.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30 — A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, demanded today that Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark launch an immediate investigation into the railroad freight car shortage.

In a telegram to Mr. Clark, Mr. Whitney cited recent advertisements by railroads which he said indicated they had added 75,000 boxcars since the end of the war.

This was but "a drop in the bucket when measured against the needs which exist", Mr. Whitney said. "There should have been built, and I think could have been built, at least 10,000 freight cars per month since V-J Day, and railroads even then would not have been in a position to serve adequately industry and the farmers."

Mr. Whitney added that "the nation's production and the nation's employment are affected adversely by this freight car shortage and will be to an ever-increasing degree unless steps are taken to effect a correction".

U. S. SMOTHERS ARGENTINE BID TO LIMIT PACT

Vandenberg Leads America To Smashing Victory In Hemisphere Parley

By The United Press.

PETROPOLIS, Brazil, Aug. 30—The long-awaited row between the United States and Argentina finally broke out at the inter-American conference, but most delegates—the Argentines excepted—agreed today that Sen. Arthur Vandenberg led the U. S. to a complete victory.

The defeat of Argentina in an unforeseen last-minute clash not only was complete, it was double-barreled.

Argentina tried to engineer a "deal" with the other states against the United States. She had the votes to win yesterday morning, but a seven-hour recess saved the U. S.

In the end, Argentina not only lost her effort to limit the scope of the hemispheric treaty, but also so completely lost in the manuevers that she finally agreed to an article which three days ago she had opposed so vigorously.

Argentina agreed to withdraw an amendment limiting the treaty to defense within the hemisphere in exchange for the support of other nations for a very technical addition to the treaty which the U. S. decided was aimed at isolating Hawaii and the Pearl Harbor naval base from the treaty.

The other nations were alarmed by Sen. Vandenberg's damning denunciation of the Argentine proposal. All of which led one high American diplomat to conclude after Argentina backed down completely to say that she was left without even a quid pro quo to stand on.

Argentina has lost on every major issue she has pressed at this conference—a unanimity rule, desire for the veto over economic as well as military sanctions and an abortive attempt a week ago to limit the treaty to attacks from without the hemisphere.

Truman And Party Await Their Flight To Rio

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—President Truman will take off tomorrow on a flying trip to Brazil, where he will address the final session of the inter-American defense conference and a joint meeting of the Brazilian Congress during a one-week stay.

The host nation's legislators will hear Mr. Truman at 2 p. m. (East Liverpool time) next Friday, the White House announced late yesterday.

His other major speech will be made to the defense conference delegates at 8:30 a. m. next Tuesday. Later the same day, he will talk informally at a luncheon for the delegates and Brizilian officials aboard the battleship Missouri.

The presidential party, which will include Mrs. Truman and Margaret Truman, will leave Washington at 8 a. m. tomorrow aboard the White House airliner Independence. After an overnight stop at the port of Spain Trinidad, the plane will fly on to Rio De Janeiro, with arrival scheduled at 1 p. m. Monday.

Four Autos Damaged In St. Clair Collision When Gas Feed Jams

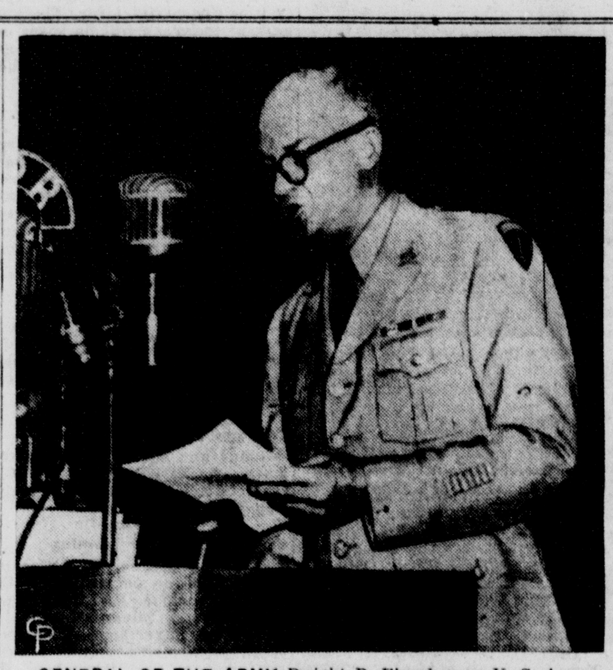

Four autos were damaged in a spectacular collision Friday night about 7:55 on St. Clair Ave. that was blamed on a jammed gas feed, police reported today.

The trouble started when a 1936 sedan driven by William D. Jones of R. D. 1 "took the bit in its teeth" and crashed into the rear of a 1946 sedan operated by C. C. Davidson, 404 Thompson Ave., police said. Then the Jones car swerved to the left and hit an approaching car driven by Jack Hyder, 1045 Edgewood Ave. The force of the collision knocked the Jones car into a parked auto owned by Clyde Dick, 810 St. Clair Ave., the department said.

Mr. Jones told investigating officers he lost control when his gas feed jammed. Mr. Davidson's car was damaged slightly, while the entire front and left side were damaged on the Hyder car and the Dick car was damaged about the rear and two wheels, police said.

An accident that occurred at 12:30 a. m. today on Route 30 a mile and a half east of Laughlin's Corners was reported to the local department. Donald J. Stier of the Norfolk (Va.) Naval Station told police his 1941 sedan skidded and struck the side of a 1941 coupe operated by Jack E. Wilkinson of near Port Clinton.

A Dresden Ave. woman escaped uninjured about 6 p. m. Friday when struck as she walked on Walnut St. by a car backing from Turk's garage, police said. Identified only as "Mrs. Clark", the woman was hit by the left rear bumper of a car driven by Arch Pinkerton, 1052 Bank St., police said. Mr. Pinkerton told police the woman said she was unhurt.

GENERAL OF THE ARMY Dwight D. Eisenhower, U. S. Army chief of staff, is shown as he addressed the 29th annual Legion convention in New York. He warned that "the world comprises two great camps—grouped on one side around dictatorships and on the other around democracy". Claiming conflicting theories can exist peacefully, he urged preparedness "as long as deliberate aggressions against rights of men are part of the international picture".

65,000 PARADE IN LEGION FETE

March Along 39 Blocks To Take About 12 Hours

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—American Legion comrades, the graying ex-doughboys and the younger, jauntier former G. I.'s, paraded up the long and sunlighted expanse of Fifth Ave. today as hundreds of thousands of spectators paid tumultubus tribute to the men of two world wars.

An estimated 65,000 were lined up for the Legion's climactic parade, expected to last more than 12 hours over a two-and-a-half-mile route 39 blocks long. The marchers began to tramp through mid-Manhattan at 8:30 a. m.

The mightiest parade ever staged by the Legion, at its 1937 convention here, lasted for 18 hours, but most units marched four abreast at that time while today's arrangements call for the doughboys to march 12 to a line.

Twelve P-80 jet planes and 18 B-29 super-Fortresses furnished "cover" for the marchers.

The sober warnings of military and political leaders, were ringing in the marchers' ears as they passed before the throng.

General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, who received a tumultuous welcome from the convention Friday coupled an endorsement of universal military training with a statement that: "I do not want to be understood as seeing a global war as an immediate threat.

"It is fully as important to prevent blind hysteria and fear from influencing us as it is to look facts soberly in the face and thus develop logical conclusions from the survey," he declared.

The wartime supreme commander and present chief of staff said "no great nation is today in position deliberately to provoke a long and exhausting conflict with any hope of gain".

Gen. Eisenhower, described his address as "something of an official farewell", since it was probably his last public appearance as chief of staff before assuming the presidency of Columbia University in January.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz asked the Legion to act "as sentinels to see that no one branch of the armed forces is permitted to

FAMILY'S FOOD BILL CONTINUES TO JUMP

Hits New Peak For Second Consecutive Month

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — The family food bill in 56 large cities rose 1.4 per cent between mid-June and mid-July, hitting a new peak for the second consecutive month, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

The bureau's retail food price index for July was 193.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average. This was 16 per cent above a year ago and 106 per cent above the August, 1939 index.

Higher prices for eggs, dairy products and meats were the chief factors in the rise to July 15.

Egg prices jumped 11 per cent on the average as a result of strong demand, slowing production and low-storage stocks. The increase ranged from 5 per cent to 16 per cent in the 56 cities.

Dairy products climbed more than 4 per cent, reflecting short stocks of butter and seasonally lower milk production. Butter prices were up more than 8 per cent, fresh milk 3 per cent and cheese 2 per cent.

The housewife paid 1½ per cent more for meats, fish and poultry as a group on July 15 than on June 15. All beef cuts advanced 2 to 3½ per cent. Pork and lamb rose about 1 per cent and fish 2 per cent.

EX-G.I. CHARGED WITH THEFT OF ATOMIC PHOTOS

'Highly-Confidential' Shots Found By FBI During Search Of Home

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—Arnold Frederick Kivi, 27-year-old Brooklyn ex-soldier, today consented before a U. S. commissioner to removal to New Mexico to plead to charges of "taking highly-confidential photographs" from the Los Alamos atomic installations.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — Arnold Frederick Kivi, a 27-year-old ex-soldier, is being held for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner in New York today on charges of taking "highly-confidential photographs" from the Los Alamos (N. M.) atomic installations.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced that Mr. Kivi was arrested last night in Brooklyn, where Mr. Hoover said FBI agents nabbed 37 photographs and 10 negatives when they searched his home.

Mr. Hoover's announcement said Mr. Kivi at first denied having any highly-confidential pictures, but later admitted removing from the Los Alamos project certain classified photographs.

The FBI director said pictures found in Mr. Kivi's possession showed various phases of atomic research equipment used in connection with the bomb and several pictures of visitors to the atomic property.

The first atomic bomb was assembled and tested at Los Alamos. The project still is a major center for atomic research.

Mr. Hoover said that Mr. Kivi, when first interviewed, said he had made 500 official photographs of various stages of development of the atomic bomb. He later admitted, the FBI director said, that he took the classified photographs when he left the Army in February, 1946, and that several weeks later he became "extremely concerned about the pictures and burned them".

Mr. Kivi was in the Army from Sept. 1, 1942, until Feb. 6, 1946.

He is the third person this year to be charged with taking government documents from an atomic project.

Alexander Von Der Luft, a former Army sergeant, was placed on four years' probation Aug. 21 after he had pleaded guilty in Pittsburgh. Ernest D. Wallis, a 34-year-old Chicago photographer, also an ex-G.I., has yet to be tried on similar charges.

EAST END VETS HOMES ROBBED

Social Club, Lincoln Legion Post Lose $95 In Change

Burglars obtained about $95 in change early today when they invaded the homes of two East End veterans organizations and smashed coin-operated machines police reported.

The biggest share of the loot came from the Veterans' Social Club, 1044 Pennsylvania Ave., where $70 was stolen, along with a .22 caliber target pistol, three fifths of whisky and a box of cigars, police reported.

Between $20 and $25 was obtained by smashing a music box in the home of the James Lincoln American Legion Post nearby on Virginia Ave., the department said.

Entrance to the Pennsylvania Ave. Club apparently was gained around 3 a. m. by an intruder who hid himself just inside the vestibule door, waited until the club closed, and then removed a ventilating fan to get into the building proper, police said. To get out, the burglar pried open the inside door and knocked out the glass of the second, officers reported.

The loot included $18 from a cigarette machine, $25 from the music box, $15 from a pinball machine, $8 from the cash register and $4 in pennies from a jar, officers said.

The burglary at the Legion post was the fourth in the last two months. The rear door was pried open to gain entrance and the music box was forced to reach the coin container, police said. A cigarette vending machine also was tampered with but it had not been opened police said.

Two East End men are awaiting hearing Tuesday in Municipal Court in connection with an Aug. 11 burglary of the post home. They are Clyde Hunt and Ross Neville, both of Elmtree St., who pleaded innocent when arraigned on the charges Aug. 20.

Bank Robbers Hunted Amid Oregon Visitors After Taking $58,000

By The Associated Press.

SWEET HOME, Ore., Aug. 30—Police wearily watched jammed mountain highways east of here today for two holdup men who timed a $58,000 bank robbery with the advent of the Labor Day week end.

People swarming to the Cascade Mountain lakes and streams enormously complicated the police problems.

Police are convinced, however, that somewhere in the throngs in the mountains are the two who at gunpoint forced 19 persons to the floor in the Bank of Sweet Home Friday, then scooped up nearly $58,000 in small bills—the largest bank robbery on record in Oregon.

They jumped into a black sedan and roared off into the region of high crags and lava bad lands east of here. As they fled, a garageman whose suspicions had been aroused fired two pistol shots after them. He said he thought both bullets struck the car.

Scared To Death

Glands Choke Boy After Truck Misses Him

By The United Press.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug 30—A 6-year-old boy was "frightened to death" here.

Henry Marker was riding a scooter on the street Friday. A truck driver was forced to drive over the curb to avoid hitting him.

A few minutes later, Henry collapsed from fright. He was pronounced dead at Westmoreland Hospital.

An autopsy revealed that the fright caused the youth's throat glands to swell, literally choking him to death.

REPAIRS ON ST. CLAIR WILL START TUESDAY

Holes Will Be Patched Until Lasting Improvement

The Street Department is ready to start work Tuesday morning on repair of St. Clair Ave. between McKinnon Ave. and Young's Alley, Safety-Service Director Charles Kidd said today.

Considered the roughest stretch in the heavily-traveled thoroughfare, the section will be patched with blacktop to fill numerous holes that have stirred complaints from motorists.

Mr. Kidd gave the green light to the job Friday after the City Engineer's Office placed an order with the Tri-State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry for 18 to 19 tons of blacktop for the job. City trucks are scheduled to pick up the material at the firm's Weirton plant Tuesday morning. More will be ordered if it is required, the engineer's office said.

When he announced plans for the repair Aug. 25, the director said the improvement will not be permanent "but it will help until we can do a lasting job".

HOSPITAL ADDS SPACE AS POLIO CASES SOAR

By The Associated Press.

AKRON, O., Aug. 30—Children's Hospital prepared today to use the adjacent Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church building to house infantile paralysis patients as the number of polio cases under treatment mounted to 123 last night.

Seven new cases were reported yesterday. While most of the patients are from Akron, Cuyahoga Falls and Barberton, others have come from the remainder of Summit county and neighboring Stark and Wayne counties.

Equipment for an emergency ward in the church is on its way here, hospital attaches said.

No deaths have been reported thus far, but four iron lungs are in use in advanced cases.

Circumstances Alter A Case

WHEN it appeared that Hitler's Germany might conquer Europe and control all the frontages of Europe from which an attack on the United States might be launched, nothing was too harsh a punishment for Germany.

But when it appears that Stalin's Russia may conquer all of Europe and control the same frontages, harsh punishment for Germany becomes shortsighted.

This is the circumstance that alters the case about Germany's industrial recovery. It is being talked about freely enough everywhere else, and it might as well be talked about freely in the United States.

The same thing is true about Japan. During the years when the United States was breaking its back to win the war in the Pacific, nothing was too bad for the Japanese. There was a big bad talk about laying waste their island and driving the population back into the feudalism from which it emerged in this century, equipped with the machinery of modern war but not the ethics of modern civilization.

But now, with the war over and Russia peering at North America across the Bering Straits, it suddenly has occurred to Americans that the Japanese islands would make an admirable advance base in the event of war.

These are the fundamental circumstances altering the fundamental case of international influence. Russia has emerged as the "most powerful nation" to be dealt with in the balance-of-power politics necessitated by Russia's refusal to co-operate in the United Nations. Therefore, Russia will have to be dealt with realistically (the statesmen hope)—meaning that its strength will have to be offset by the economic recovery of Europe; i. e., restoration of German industry, and economic recovery of Japan.

Bee-yoo-ti-ful Ohio

THE love feast that Ohio assemblymen and their wives enjoyed as guests of the city of Cleveland has some curious implications.

It appears that some of the assemblymen learned for the first time that people in Cleveland get in and out of their pants one leg at a time, just like anyone else. It also appears that some Clevelanders learned for the first time that the assemblymen, especially those from the "sticks", have heard of electric lights, know how to read and write, and do not shoot city slickers on first sight with blunderbusses loaded with scrap iron and corn cobs.

Cincinnati and Cleveland should get together, to learn to their mutual surprise that the same language is spoken in both places. Dayton and Youngstown should exchange visits, Toledo and Canton, Akron and Columbus. City slickers should stop and chew the fat with farmers. When farmers come to town, they should slap the town boys on the back and tell 'em the latest cleaned-up joke from the Readers Digest.

Wendell Willkie's one world fizzled, and the United Nations apparently is going to be the Untied Nations. But if we work at it, this still can be Bee-yoo-ti-ful Ohio.

The Treaty Of Rio

IT'S an important document the inter-American defense conference has drafted in Brazil. The very unanimity with which it was drawn stands as a deterrent to aggressors. The meeting was marked by so little disagreement that it is ending well ahead of the anticipated time.

Without dictating the terms, the United States was a leader in drafting them. Not only external aggressors come within the scope of the treaty; aggressors within the hemisphere will face united action just as quickly. However, in response to Argentina's suggestion, peaceful steps first will be taken to curb intra-continental aggressors.

The treaty of Rio De Janeiro, as it will be known officially, sets up the hemisphere as a defense entity. It puts the 21 American republics on a basis of "all for one and one for all". Secretary Marshall and other members of the United States delegation deserve the highest praise for their part in drafting this iron-clad treaty.

Two Pests On The Rope

SOME say the scarcity of house flies this summer has been because of heavy rains in June and July. Others say DDT and other highly efficient insecticides are killing off flies at a faster rate than they can reproduce. Whatever the reason, they certainly seem to be scarcer this year and it's a good bet at least some of the scarcity is attributable to insecticides.

Weeds are another nuisance on the way out. A Cornell scientist predicts that, by 1950, progressive farmers and gardeners will be raising crops without weeds. A chemical called 2-4-D and an adaptation of the Army flame thrower will eliminate them, he says.

Life without weeds and flies may take us two steps nearer the ideal existence, but let us keep our fingers crossed lest another scientist discover that flies are part of nature's mechanism to keep life in equilibrium, or that vegetables without competition from weeds grow mushy and insipid.

These Days

The President's Surplus

DURING the discussion of the tax bills, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder warned a Senate committee against cutting the federal budget, forecasting price drops and a possible $8,000,000,000 decline in revenue for 1947.

On April 19, Mr. Truman reported a prospective budget surplus of $1,250,000,000 for the end of the 1947 fiscal year ending June 30. On July 2, the treasury announced a federal budget surplus of $753,787,660 for the 1947 fiscal year. The Republicans stated that the surplus would run between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000. Some even went higher.

As early as April 28, Sen. Taft said:

"The treasury estimates in January, 1947, for the fiscal year 1947, were nearly $4,000,000,000 wrong. The stimates submitted in January for the fiscal year 1948 are evidently wrong, but Mr. Snyder is refusing to bring them up to date for fear they may show a surplus which would justify a tax cut by a Republican Congress. . . ."

NOW THE PRESIDENT puts his surplus at $4,700,000,000. Apparently his bookkeeping was all wrong. The trouble is that the President has been holding out $1,300,000,000, not yet appropriated by Congress, for such purposes as he may desire. His budget is so fixed that he will have that much, if not more, elbow room to function without Congress.

The Marshall plan alone could consume this $1,300,000,000, if not the entire $4,700,000,000. The President's problem is that this country is involved so heavily in foreign commitments that nobody can forecast even an approximation of how much money will be needed to make good our promises.

Sen. Taft, during the debate on tax reduction, said:

"The President said there would be no tax reductions. But at the same time he increases the size of every civil department and asks for $3,000,000,000 not authorized. How about doing away with that and getting the tax reduction instead?"

SEN. BRIDGES said: "The President includes in his budget $1,750,000,000 for international finance. Whether this sum will be needed, depends to a large extent upon legislative action by the Congress on the President's international loan requests. If it is required, however, it probably will be insufficient to satisfy the flood of loan requests that will eventuate once the doors of our treasury are opened to foreign borrowers."

The President and his advisers concealed from Congress the facts as to the surplus, making it difficult for Congress to impose economies and to reduce the burdens of the people. Always the foreign policy was the ghost that was used to frighten the legislators. The second tax bill only cut revenue by $1,600,000,000 largely because of the concealment of the truth. Certainly, the treasury knew what the surplus for the fiscal years 1947, which ended on June 30, 1947, would be at every stage of the tax discussion.

A MUCH BROADER question is involved here than the figures show. It is the fundamental question of presidential responsibility. He's required by the Constitution to present to the Congress the data it requires. Section 3 or Article II of the Constitution reads:

"He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. . . ."

One of the functions of Congress is to pass appropriations, measures thereanent arising originally in the House of Representatives. The President and his officers are required to provide such data as the Congress may need. The assumption must be that such data is truthful, or, if the President is in doubt, that he will say so, or that it is to the best of his ability and he so declares.

When the President and his officers provide positive data and it turns out that the figures are wrong, the country needs a better explanation than that on Aug. 20 they were more correct than on June 30. The time lapse is too short for the type of correction involved.

The American people have lapsed into loose thinking on fiscal subjects. Billions of dollars are thrown hither and yon like chicken feed. If we are not careful, we shall not have them to throw about.

Truman, Coolidge

By Raymond Moley

THOSE who already are calling our President a Missouri Coolidge should consider a number of vital differences between the two men. Never were these differences more clearly shown than in the President's recent report on federal finances.

The alleged parallel is based on the personalities of the men. Mr. Truman, like Mr. Coolidge, is measurably sparing of words. Like Mr. Coolidge, he professes no desire to be known as a superman. And Mr. Truman, too, has the good fortune to preside over a country in which employment is high and in which money flows like water. The inference is that Mr. Truman in 1948 will be the beneficiary of a grateful citizenry, just as Mr. Hoover was in 1938 the heir of Mr. Coolidge's popularity.

But the distinction between the two men and the two eras are arresting and conclusive. Mr. Coolidge was a passionate enemy of debt. In his last year as president, the federal debt was $17,604,000,000. When Mr. Coolidge succeeded Mr. Harding, in 1923, the debt was $22,350,000,000. While national income had risen in Coolidge years from $71,600,000,000 to $81,700,000,000, Coolidge taxes took approximately the same amount at the beginning and end of his years. This meant real tax reduction. Federal expenditures were reduced substantially by Mr. Coolidge. The Vermont Yankee never failed to register whole-souled happiness when a dollar was saved.

ON THE OTHER hand, there is grim satisfaction in the Truman words when, after a review of current finances, he finds that Congress failed to make good its promises of budgetary reduction. It must be said in fairness to Mr. Truman that international realities face us now which were not present in the Coolidge era.

But Mr. Coolidge certainly would have pointed out what Mr. Truman seemingly fails to appreciate. There is grave danger that mounting federal revenues may blind us to dangers ahead. Those revenues have mounted at an unforeseen rate. In January, 1947, the President estimated receipts for the year ending June 3, 1947, at $40,230,000,000. The actual receipts were $42,112,000,000. In January, 1947, he estimated that the receipts for the year ending June 30, 1948, would be $37,700,000,000. He now revises that estimate upward by $4,000,000,000, or to about what receipts actually were last year.

But considering that receipts mounted over the year just passed because of steadily-rising prices and wages, if Mr. Truman's new estimate is right, prices and wages will have to retreat over the next year as much as they rose last year. That is very doubtful. Therefore, it confidentialy can be estimated that receipts will be higher than Mr. Truman's estimate by about $4,000,000,000. They then will prove to be about $46,000,000,300, unless taxes are reduced drastically.

THE REAL DANGER is that this huge revenue may blind us to the real difference in substance and quality between the national income on which these receipts are based and the federal expenditures for which receipts are spent. National income is flexible, uncertain and subject to rapid shrinkage. Federal expenditures are hard and resistant to change.

It is 10 times as difficult to cut by a billion as to increase by a billion. When the federal government establishes a charge on the budget, priorities, privileges and special interests are created. Civil servants are added to the pay roll, with legal holds on their jobs. Projects are started which cannot be dropped without serious losses. Sectional interests rise up to battle against future reductions. From small seeds, there grows a tough root. Next year, this Republican Congress will find economy twice as hard a task.

Mr. Truman seems to feel he has achieved a triumph by proving the impossibility of economy. That is not in the Coolidge tradition.

Not On Rye

By Truman Twill

AN ASSOCIATE has passed along a clipping, with a glint in his eye. It says Sept. 6 to 13 is going to be National Sandwich Week. It says chefs, restaurants and so-on will knock themselves out trying to build the public a better sandwich.

Tell us more. Will the better sandwich be made of the same old soft-as-marshallow bread that wads up in the sandwich eater's hand and leaves him holding a handful of soggy dough and the remnants of what passes for sandwich filling?

Will the ham in the ham sandwiches be so thin that the only way a customer can be sure it's there is to look on each half of the sandwich carefully, and if he sees anything pink to shut up and take his medicine like a man?

WILL DAB-O'-HASHERY buns still resemble boated specimens of sea biscuit, vaguely suggestive of the ones Cap Hornblower tapped on the table to knock out the weevils before taking a bite?

Will the hamburgers taste like hamburgers, or will it still be necessary to cover up what they do taste like with horse doctor drenches of catchup, slathers of mustard, pickle poultices and a handful of salt?

Will the component parts of a bacon and tomato sandwich still be distributed in such a manner that the one piece of bacon falls out on the first bite and the one piece of tomato fall out on the second?

WILL A GRILLED sandwich keep right on being something that shouldn't happen to the victim of a tribe of headhunters, meaning there should be a law against burning a sandwich in hot oil?

In brief, sandwichmakers of the United States, do you birds have something in mind, or have you just thought up one more week to persuade the customers you have their interests at heart and would like to make them some sandwiches worthy of the name if they'll come around sometime after hours when the boss isn't there?

There are no warm-blooded creatures that live by means of dissolved oxygen, as fish do.

Slippery Spot

Democrats Launch Their Drive

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON — A political development having considerable weight—not merely in the literal sense of tonnage—is the quantity of publicity material being put out at this time by the Democratic national committee. It is, one newsman estimates, perhaps five times the amount currently put out by the Republican committee.

The publicity output of the Democratic committee embraces speeches by the executive director, Gael Sullivan, a diligent patron of the public ear, together with other material originating in the committee or made use of by it, including copies of statements of Democratic leaders.

Significance arises not merely from the extraordinary activity of the committee and the volume of its output, but from the time. It takes place a year and two months in advance of the presidential election. Ordinarily the national committees of both parties do not become this active until after the presidential nominations are made and the campaign actually under way. But on this occasion, as respects the Democratic committee, the campaign is already on.

THERE IS A possible explanation. The Democratic national committee knows already who the party's presidential nominee will be. Top personnel of the committee are close to President Truman and have a special stake in seeing him re-elected next year. This not only may account for the earliness of the committee's activity, but may determine the nature of it. The publicity is aimed to defend Mr. Truman and his record and build him up, together of course with an attack on the Republicans. The present activity of the Democratic national committee is a preview of the presidential campaign next year, so far as the committee can make it so.

The campaign next year, if speeches of Mr. Sullivan are an augury of it, promises to be vehement, though possibly more provocative than illuminating. In an August broadcast, Mr. Sullivan, devised "Ten Commandments" which he charged the Republicans are following. Examples:

"Thou shalt not give the laboring man the same rights as other citizens.

"Thou shalt not have the right to education."

THESE "COMMANDMENTS" are likely to be read by the public in the light of familiar details of common knowledge. So far as the laboring man is embraced in labor unions, not only does organized labor have "the same rights as other citizens", it has more. It has, for example, legal immunity from the antitrust and other laws against combinations in restraint of trade. As for "the right to an education", the laws of every state not only confer that right, but make it a responsibility. A parent who does not send his children to school is punishable by law. But perhaps partisan political utterances should not be held to an exacting standard of precision in words.

Looking to next year's election, there is real importance in certain inclusive issues which are set up in present outgivings of the Democratic national committee. One line of attack upon the Republicans is expressed in a quotation from a radio broadcast by Democratic House Leader Sam Rayburn: "The Republican Congress failed in two things—it failed to put through its own legislative program. . . ." As put by Mr. Sullivan: "The 80th Congress did not complete its own narrow and selfish legislative program."

HERE IS A strange picture. One party, the Republicans, were in control of Congress and had a legislative program. In the nature of things the other party, the Democrats, were in opposition. Mr. Sullivan denounces the Republican program as "narrow and selfish". Yet the Republicans are attacked on the ground that they did not do what the Democrats say they ought not to have done. The charge that the Republicans failed to carry out their legislative program, or parts of it, is one that Republicans often are called upon to defend themselves against. A discriminating public is likely to see some illogic in this, possibly some may call it "phony".

One issue raised by the Democratic committee is genuine and important. It will be an actual issue in the presidential campaign next year, not because the Democratic committee says it is one and wants it to be one, but because in fact it is an issue. It is the cleavage between President Truman and Congress.

AS PUT IN speeches by Mr. Sullivan, using the word "veto" in a sense chosen by himself: "The Republicans in Congress vetoed the President's program." "Again President Truman's program . . . was sabotaged by the Republican-dominated 80th Congress." That statement is accurate enough and would be absolutely accurate if the word "Republican" were omitted The issue was not between Mr. Truman and the Republicans, it was between him and Congress as Congress.

Mr. Truman did put forward a legislative program, perhaps the most comprehensive ever sent to any Congress by any president. It contained some 20 proposals. But the Congress to which Mr. Truman sent that program was the one preceding the present, the Democratic Congress that was in session when Mr. Truman became president. That Democratic Congress turned a cold shoulder to Mr. Truman's program, and he took the extraordinary step of appealing to the public, vainly as it turned out, to put pressure on leaders of his own party.

Mr. Truman's legislative program was disapproved by both Democratic and Republicans. Both his program, and his vetoes in the present Congress, naturally will be an issue in a campaign for re-election.

Lost Figures

By Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON — Mr. Truman found the lost figures in his fiscal midyear budget review. Although dollar volume of business and income have been increasing since January, no one around the treasury has been able to find the figures showing how much this would increase receipts, and thus justify the Republican tax reduction.

Inquiring reporters were chased off after wild goose eggs when the June 15 quarterly income taxes came in to the treasury till. The Democratic actuaries should have been able to estimate immediately how much more money they would take in this present year than they had figured. But the Republican tax reduction bill was then under consideration in Congress, so the actuaries just looked dumb and pointed to the daily treasury statement, which is an unrevealing generalization of matters fiscal.

BY THIS LITTLE fiscal ruse, the Democrats caused the Republicans to use the 6-month-old budget estimates of last January, which kept them on the defensive, and forced them to justify any tax reduction by the amount of economies they could make.

Do you catch on? The strategem is a little complicated. It had to be to fool the Republicans. But in the customary nutshell in use around Washington, the Democrats simply delayed acknowledging how much their receipts will be larger this fiscal year until the Republicans were safely out of town, and all chance of tax reduction this year had passed.

—:—

THE GENERAL Truman midyear budget picture presents this nation as rich and powerful, much better off than expected, doing better business, its people earning larger incomes and all that. One significant figure he fails to mention, one of his own figures. In his economic review earlier, he predicted national income for this calendar year at 167 billion dollars. His budget, he now says, will raise 41.7 dollars. Apply these figures to the same period, which is reasonable, and you will conclude the federal government is taking 25 cents of every dollar to be earned by its people.

SEVERAL FLAWS are apparent in the whole affair which make it somewhat academic, or certainly a subject for political rather than serious discussion. This "midyear review" is not in the middle of anything except politics. August is not the middle of the calendar year or the fiscal year. Indeed the fiscal year, with which it deals solely, is now only in its second month.

Similarly, it is founded on the declared assumption that prices, wages, business and the whole economy will remain where they are now until next June 30.

I will lay a little bet against the possibilities of such an unprecedented economic miracle.

JUST A MINUTE . . . By Jack Tarver

▶ A new phonograph record features a concerto for two violins, both parts being played by one man, Jascha Heifetz. Wait until Petrillo hears about that!

▶ That's the greatest threat to the musicians' union since the passing of the one-man band.

▶ Yes sir, as if it hadn't provided a terrific enough headache for Petrillo with the jukebox, science now has devised a means whereby a citizen may play second fiddle to himself.

▶ That means it is only a question of time until the violin duo goes the way of the two-man streetcar.

▶ The new process is not confined to the violin, of course, a situation which opens up some frightening possibilities. Imagine, if you can, the Sextet from Lucia, with Sinatra handling all the parts.

Pie To Politics

By Alex H. Singleton

Dirksen Leaves For European Survey

A SCHOOLCHILDREN'S questionnaire 16 years ago on the diminishing popularity of pie will have a direct effect upon this nation's future foreign policy.

For its disclosure that housewives were substituting ice cream and cookies for pie in their youngsters' diets helped a Pekin (Ill.) baker decide to become a politician. Fewer pies might mean an end to a bakery's profits, so Everett Dirksen reasoned he had better switch to a different career.

That decision took Mr. Dirksen, a Republican, to Congress and to a dominating place on the powerful House appropriations committee which has a yes-or-no voice over all government spending—including that for foreign aid programs.

Rep. Dirksen is on his way to Europe as chairman of a joint House appropriations-armed services investigating committee, off for a firsthand survey of military and economic conditions abroad. The committee will report to Congress upon its return.

IN REP. DIRKSEN'S pocket is a blank check aimed at insuring the co-operation of United States authorities overseas and that of foreign officials eager for American financial help.

It is in the form of an open letter of introduction signed by Rep. Taber (R) of New York, the chairman of the appropriations committee and the Republican ax-man for chopping down government spending.

There never has been any lack of appreciation among United States officials as to Rep. Taber's powers. And foreign officials have become increasingly aware of them.

The two men—Reps. Taber and Dirksen—generally are credited (or blamed) for dictating the committee's major decisions. Thus Rep. Dirksen's mission takes on increased significance for foreign countries.

For, under the Constitution all money bills must originate in the House. But before they reach the floor, their form is determined by the appropriations committee and—even before that—by a powerful subcommittee upon which both Rep. Taber and Rep. Dirksen sit.

THIS MEANS that any financial program to carry out the Marshall plan for Europe's economic reconstruction will have to get an o. k. from the subcommittee. That is the reason Rep. Dirksen's findings are important to future foreign policy.

Rep. Dirksen will concentrate on the problems of Germany, operating out of Frankfurt, because he feels that to get the rest of Europe back on its feet the German industrial machine must be geared to heavy, but closely-supervised production.

In his five-week survey, he plans to go down into the Ruhr mines to see what is needed to get out more coal. He wants to find out how much more steel Germany should be allowed to produce, what Germany's transportation system lacks, what can be done to get fertilizer manufactured by the Germans.

Before leaving, Rep. Dirksen said he didn't plan to confined the inquiry to the economic and financial aspects of relieving Europe alone. He intends, after completing his studies in Germany, to talk over with other European leaders—particularly those of the left-wing faction of Britain's Labor party—their long-range economic and socialization plans.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—The Columbiana County Board of County Commissioners prepared to submit in November a $200,000 bond issue for a new jail after the State Bureau of Industrial Relations condemned the jail and the home of Sheriff Gomer Lewis.

Councilmen George A. Hughes, Charles Hayes, George Goppert and A. Earl Edwards viewed St. Clair Ave. to confer with property owners who demanded that the cost of the improvement be placed on the general tax duplicate instead of being assessed against their properties.

Chronic Illness

SEVEN-LEAGUE strides of medicine and public health have increased average life expectancy one-third since 1900. Expectancy then was 49 years. Now it is 66, which means that the proportion of old people in the population is increasing steadily. Since age brings illness, problems of caring for the chronically ill are mounting.

The Council of State Governments reports that the New York state health preparedness commission recently issued a report calling for a broad state program to combat chronic illness, especially among the aged. A report on the same subject has been completed in Illinois.

The New York reports disclosed that the fraction of the state's population past 65 is expected to increase from 6.8 per cent in 1940 to 13.1 in 1980. In the nation as a whole, incidence of chronic illness for all age groups is 177 per 1,000 population, while for persons over 65, the incidence is 467 per 1,000 population.

Spearhead of the commission's studies is a recommendation that a new state agency be created to administer a program of education, research and rehabilitation and improvement of facilities for care of chronic illness, in addition to tuberculosis and mental disease care programs already operating. The state would share with municipalities the expense of indigent chronically ill in the expanded program.

The commission's report also recommends establishment of a state chronic disease hospital center in each of five geographic regions. These centers would be parts of general hospitals and medical schools. The program would emphasize treatment and rehabilitation rather than mere custodial care.

'Proper' Arrangements Stressed

Truman Puts Aid Burden On Other Powers

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—President Truman expressed hope Friday that the Marshall plan for European self-help successfully will supplant direct aid of the type provided by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

In a letter transmitting to Congress his report on the UNRRA's winding-up operations during the first quarter of this year, Mr. Truman said:

"Long-term plans have been inaugurated by our government under which it is hoped that devastated countries will achieve economic health through co-operation among themselves and with such long-range help as the United States is able to give under proper international arrangements."

The mention of "proper" arrangements seemed to point up a news conference statement Wednesday by Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett that this country will extend aid only on the basis of a recovery plan which is reasonable and realistic.

IN ANOTHER reference to the 16-nation Paris conference on the Marshall plan, Mr. Lovett said demands on American aid must diminish by next year.

Mr. Truman's letter noted that while contributions of the other 47 participating countries may be used for the rest of 1947 and into 1948, funds donated by the United States contribution could not be obligated after last June 30, a cut-off date fixed by Congress. On that date, Mr. Truman added, the UNRRA had obligated virtually the entire $2,700,000,000 contributed by the United States.

Various United Nations organizations have taken over the UNRRA's work, in addition, the United States has provided $332,000,000 for an independent relief program, of which $34,000,000 has been committed for Italy and $43,000,000 for Austria.

REFERRING TO the transfer to the International Refugee Organization July 1 of the responsibility for the care of displaced persons, Mr. Truman said:

"The United States continues its great concern for these unfortunate people and the Congress has authorized a United States contribution to the work of the IRO in the hope that this organization may include the task of resettling or otherwise repatriating the bulk of these people who have suffered so long."

The report said repatriation of DP's tapered off during the first three months of 1947 because of severe winter weather, only 17,000 being transferred as against 100,000 during the last quarter of 1946.

As of March 31, 1947, more than 700,000 persons still were receiving UNRRA aid, a decrease of 23,000 during the quarter. Of these, more than 600,000 were in Germany and nearly 30,000 in the Middle East.

The report said that final figures will show that the UNRRA will have "accomplished its supply programs to a remarkable degree and will have utilized to the fullest possible extent the total contributions of approximately $3,685,000,000 made available by member governments".

Champions Head Home

Fair Closes After Playing Host To 346,000

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — Champions of three national shows and Ohio state champions are homeward bound today from the 93rd Ohio State Fair, which closed Friday night.

Fair officials reported paid attendance at the exposition was 346,229, more than 5,000 short of the 351,995 record crowd of 1946. They pointed out, however, the total did not include the many women and children guests of Monday or the 350,000 Ohio schoolchildren to whom tickets were given.

Request, the big jumper owned by Sterling Smith of Ravenna, won the added winner-take-all high jump stake at the horse show last night, after being judged the fair's champion high jumper.

S. P. Burton of Ridgeville, Ind., won the grand champion and senior champion bull awards with his entry in the national red poll cattle show. Laverne S. Russell of Battle Creek, Mich., won the grand champion and senior champion female honors. F. E. Moomaw of Greenville, O., won junior champion bull honors.

NATIONAL PERCHERON and Belgian horse show winners were announced earlier this week.

My Golden Hour, owned by Mrs. David Davies of Columbus, topped the five-gaited stake at the horse show finals.

Other final victors were:

Performing jumper stake, Dellwood, J. F. Anderson, St. Paul, Minn.; amateur five-gaited stake, Parade of Victory, Mrs. A. E. Knowlton, Bowling Green, O.; championship three-gaited stake, Stoney Ridge Dixie Dawn, J. E. McAdams, New Carlisle, O.; junior five-gaited fine harness stake, Lady Lucetta, E. G. Ford, Canton, O.

Champion walking horse stake, Buddy Allen, R. H. S. Kaufman, Carrollton, O.; open hunter stake, Atakapa, Raymond Firestone, Germantown, Tenn. Atakapa also was named champion hunter.

HORSESHOE PITCHING finals also played yesterday left 11-year-old Jimmy Hook of Coshocton the state junior champion. His brother, Richard, 13, won the state fair junior title, and Mrs. Hook, their mother, won the women's event.

A. J. Manker of Chillicothe won the amateur Class A horseshoe pitching, Lloyd Harris of Mt. Gilead the Class B and Don Jack of Proctorville the Class C.

Herman Oner of Westerville topped the entrants, both amateur and professional, for the state fair horseshoe championship, and Harry Lee Smith, Mt. Gilead old-timer, won the event for men over 70.

Edwin J. Bath called on the state patrol yesterday to prevent exhibitors and concessionaires from leaving before the fair closed. He said concessionaires breaking contracts with the fair this year would face the possibility of not being permitted to operate next year.

The Family Circle

By GARRY C. MYERS

A Child And His Allowance

YEAR BY YEAR more of the family income is spent on the children, especially for luxuries, and "keeping up with the Joneses" seems to grow more forceful constantly. Most parents spend far more money on their children and give them far more money to spend than is good for their best moral growth. As a result, these children rarely learn desirable thrift.

Obviously, the more money that is spent on the child before he is five or six, the more money he will expect to receive from his parents to spend as he grows older, and the more ready his parent be to give him what he desires or demands regardless of how much they must sacrifice to do so.

ON THE OTHER hand, parents with very comfortable incomes find it hard to deny the child as much as he should be denied. Yet this child usually is the very child who needs most to learn thrift, since he is the more likely to have handed to him heavy financial responsibilities, certainly for any estate he might inherit.

As soon as you begin to give your child a nickel or so to spend, say he is four or five, limit your giving to a certain day of the week, letting him learn to wait. If you can induce this youngster to keep the nickel he receives this Friday, for example, to put with the nickel he will receive next Friday in order to buy something for 10 cents, see what moral values he has gained. He will have made the longest step in handling an allowance.

AS YOUR CHILD enters school, certainly after a few years at school, he will have increasing needs of money—bus or car fare, lunch, school supplies and the like. If you have been doling money out to him in bits, have him help you to keep a careful record of the money you give him over a period of a week. Then sit down with him and make out a budget for a week. Include in it amounts for regular groups of necessary expenditures; also a nickel or so for him to use as he chooses.

Make clear to him this amount is to last him for the week. If he can't make it last he may not yet be ready for so great a responsibility.

—:—

IT MIGHT BE of value to the child to earn part or all the money he spends. But there are not normal jobs for the average child, and jobs are rapidly decreasing for the youth from 14 to 17. To "make" jobs for the child, paying him for helping about the home, hardly is wise, since he can't easily learn thereby to share properly in the home responsibilities as a member of the family. Parents who have been paying the child for such jobs, if they feel sure they are getting desirable results, should probably continue with this plan for the time being.

Let me advise parents of the younger child not to begin such procedure.

RIGHTLY DIVIDING

2 Tim. 2:15

Chaos in religious affairs, of today, is due to a great extent to improper division of the word of God—the Bible.

The Bible is divided into two major portions, viz, THE OLD TESTAMENT, and THE NEW TESTAMENT. The Old Testament comprising the books from Genesis to Malachi: The New Testament comprises the books Matthew to Revelation. These 66 books, accepted as divinely inspired, make up the BIBLE.

Not all of the BIBLE is applicable to us today. The Old Testament, which includes the Jewish Law — given through Moses — should be read and studied, but the Law of Moses and the Ten Commandments of that Law of Moses are not binding upon any of us today regardless of our ancestry or race. (Col. 2:11-18) All are now delivered from the Mosaic Law. Rom. 7-6.

The commands of the New Testament are now binding, and shall be until the end of time. Jesus gave the last will and testament, which is applicable to all accountable persons. (Hebrews 10:1-22).

Silverware

If one has no time for cleaning silverware, place it in a dishpan of hot water and add a handful of borax and a little soap. Let stand in this solution for a few hours. Rinse in clean water, dry with a soft cloth, and the task is done.

Uniform Starching

To get uniform results in starching shirts, gather all the parts to be starched together and dip them into the starch at the same time. Be careful not to use too much starch as it will crack the fiber threads and cause the shirt to wear out much faster.

Fresh Bread

The work of cutting fresh bread for the table will be much easier if the knife is dipped in hot water occasionally.

The next time you bake a cheese souffle, make it in a tomato cup.

To Your Health!

Fighting Lobar Pneumonia

THE MAN WHO contracted lobar pneumonia 10 years or more ago had a hard fight for life. His chances of recovery were about one out of four. A good heart, a sound constitution, excellent medical and nursing care might have pulled him through but even so, his illness was likely to be long and hence expensive from both health and financial standpoints.

Today the picture is greatly changed for the better. Pneumonia is still a very serious illness and still claims its annual toll of lives, but thanks to penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs we can now treat it with far greater assurance that the patient will recover.

—:—

ACCORDING TO Dr. Frank B. Kelly of Chicago the prompt use of sulfonamides or pencillin at the beginning of respiratory infection such as a cold or sore throat probably prevents many a case of pneumonia from developing or nips it so quickly where it is present, that it never becomes really serious.

Although lobar pneumonia is often preceded by a cold, it may have a more dramatic beginning, hitting a person in otherwise excellent health like a bolt out of the blue.

The first symptoms in these dramatic cases consist of a severe chill, fever, cough and a sharp sticking pain in the chest. The breathing rate is stepped up, and the sputum may have a rusty color. In more than 90 of every 100 cases, the lobar pneumonia is caused by the pneumococcus germ.

DR. KELLY believes that of the sulfonamide drugs, sulfadiazine is the most satisfactory for treating lobar pneumonia. It is easily administered, is effective, and reactions do not occur very often. The sulfadiazine may be given by mouth or may be injected into a vein. The patient, in 10 per cent of the cases, may have severe headache, a skin rash, or other reactions to the sulfadiazine. When giving the "sulfa" drugs, the doctor gives baking soda three times a day and plenty of fluids. This will help prevent reactions.

If reactions occur with the sulfadiazine treatment, penicillin may be substituted immediately. It is also desirable to employ the penicillin if the inflammation in the lungs seems to be extending, or if the patient's general symptoms do not improve.

MANY DOCTORS give both "sulfa" drugs and penicillin. The penicillin should also be employed in elderly patients, in those with heart failure, or in patients in whom there is any other serious condition. Penicillin is also used where tests show the pneumonia is due to streptococcus or staphylococcus germs.

The penicillin may be given by injection into a vein or into a muscle or even by mouth. There is now available a preparation of penicillin in a mixture of beeswax and oil which when given in a single daily injection, is capable of maintaining an effective amount of penicillin in the blood for twenty-four hours.

If penacillin and the sulfonamide drugs had no other uses than the treatment of pneumonia (and they do have many other uses), we should still be tremendously indebted to their discoverers. They would still represent a great saving of lives.

HOW GREAT is shown by the fact that over a period of 25 years prior to their discovery, 35 per cent of all patients who contracted pneumonia died. Many who recovered were left with permanently damaged hearts.

Since sulfonamides and penicillin have been available, this death rate of 35 per cent has been reduced to 12 per cent, and of these 12 per cent, four out of every 10 were in a very serious condition when they were brought to the hospital. Recovery was the rule with patients 40 years of age or younger, regardless of the duration of the sickness or when they came under treatment. Most of those who succumbed had some complicating disorder such as liver, kidney or heart disease.

A FRIEND: If your mouth and tongue get dry, does that mean you have a kidney condition? When I awake my mouth and tongue are dry. What causes it?

Answer: Dryness of the mouth and tongue is not usually a sign of kidney trouble. It may be due to some nose or throat inflammation. It is also possible that you sleep with your mouth open, which would cause the dryness.

Words To Watch

By FRANK COLBY

Saturday Town Meeting

HUFSMITH: What an argument we've been having! During a storm when the lightning flashes, how does one say: "Look, it is l——g?"—Mrs. V. E. S.

Answer: The noun is lightning". The verbal noun is "lightening" —three syllables. Therefore: It is lightening.

Rockford: You're wrong, Colby! You give the French pronunciation of notre (Notre Dame) as "NAW-truh". It should be "NOE-truh"—long "o".—Unsigned.

Answer: Anonymous comments are customarily filed in the wastebasket by all columnists. But this unsigned criticism raises a point about which many students of French are confused. Therefore, I should like to point out that in French there are two "notres". The first is an adjective, and means "our", as in Notre Dame (our lady). It is correctly pronounced: NAW-truh. The second is a possessive pronoun, and means "ours" (and in this notre the "o" is marked with a circumflex accent). It is correctly pronounced: NOE-truh. The same is true of the adjective votre (your), pronounced: VAW-truh, and the pronoun votre (yours), pronounced: VOE-truh.

HOUSTON: We often read "We will doubtless reach our destination by morning". According to my dictionary "doubtless" is incorrect. It should be "doubtlessly".—H. M. P.

Answer: I fear you have an out-of-date or a too-condensed dictionary. The word doubtless is both adjective and adverb. "We will doubtless reach . . ." is entirely correct. The adverb "doubtlessly" could also be correctly used, but it is now obsolescent.

St. Paul: My Funk and Wagnalls' gives "KAWR-sidge" as the only English pronunciation of the word corsage. Must I pronounce it "KAWR-sidge"?—H. B.

Answer: Certainly not! That's another of those ox-cart pronunciations which the dictionaries have dreamed up, and which nobody uses. The American pronunciation the country over is: kawr-SAHZH.

Add unusual names: William Neptune lives, appropriately, at Long Beach. Cheerful Law, a Negro, recently ran afoul of the law at Donora, Pa. And Hazel May Cry is a very cheerful young lady of Fayetteville, Tenn.

A.: Lay a piece of white paper in the oven. If the oven is moderate the paper will turn a golden brown in five minutes. It will turn a dark brown in five minutes in a hot oven.

Q.: How can I wash silk pongee successfully?

A.: Use warm suds made of white soap to wash silk pongee. Let it dry thoroughly and then iron on the wrong side without dampening the goods.

Q.: How can I prevent pickles and olives from spoiling?

A.: Keep pickles in vinegar and olives in brine. If the liquid is poured off they will spoil within a short time.

Dodgers Beat Giants, Increase Lead To 7½

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

There was a time when it wasn't considered safe for a New York Giant player to be seen walking in the streets of Brooklyn. Today the thankful Flatbush citizenry is ready to spread out the welcome mat for anybody wearing a Giant uniform.

Not only have the Giants been accommodating to the Brooks but they've been especially troublesome to the Dodgers' arch-foes, the St. Louis Cardinals. In 19 engagements with the Redbirds, the Giants have come out on top 10 times.

The Giants played their usual role of stooges at Ebbets Fields last night when they bowed to the Brooks, 6-3, enabling the Dodgers to increase their National League lead over the idle Cards to seven and a half games.

Jackie Robinson, who contributed a single to the five-run sixth inning rally, stole home while Joe Beggs was warming up in that inning. It was his 24th stolen base and his third steal of home this season.

Willard Marshall's 32nd home run was the Giants' 181st of the season. One more will tie the major league record of 182 set by the New York Yankees of 1936.

The Boston Braves moved within a half game of the second place Cards by tripping the Phillies in Philadelphia, 9-2, in a 17-hit attack.

The Yankees beat Washington, 4-3, in the 10th when George McQuinn hit a long fly with one out and the bases loaded to score a runner from third.

Eddie Pellagrini doubled in two runs in the last of the seventh to enable the Red Sox to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1, in Boston. Lefty Mickey Harris, who went the route for the first time this season, limited the A's to three hits for his fifth victory.

Landing on Ellis Kinder for four runs in the sixth, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Browns in St. Louis, 5-4. Fred Hutchinson, who recorded his 13th victory, helped his own cause when he tripled and stole home. Vern Stephens hit his 14th homer for the losers.

BROWNS DEFEAT COLTS BY 28-0

Graham Flips 2 Touchdown Passes, Sets Up Third

By The Associated Press.

AKRON, Aug. 30—There was a saying in the Cleveland Browns' camp last year that "as Otto Graham goes, so go the Browns."

Well, "Automatic Otto" is back again this season and pitching footballs as good as ever.

The Baltimore Colts, newest entry in the All-America Football Conference, found out what that means here last night in The Rubber Bowl as the defending champion Browns tamed the Colts, 28-0, in an exhibition before 33,106 customers.

The former Northwestern All-American tossed 21 passes and completed 13 for 182 yards. Not a toss was intercepted.

Two of Otto's heaves went for touchdowns, one a 25-yarder to Mac Speedie in the second period, and other a 36-yarder to Dante Lavelli in the third quarter.

Graham set up the Browns' third tally early in the fourth period when he intercepted a Baltimore pass and returned it 38 yards to the Colts' 17. Pile-driving Marion Motley took it from there to the one from where Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones sneaked across.

A capable understudy for Graham was one of the items that caused Coach Paul Brown some worries last year, but 160-pound Ermal Allen from Kentucky, appears to have taken over that role.

Allen is just becoming acquainted with T-formation football, but he appeared smooth enough last night as he uncorked a pass to Bob Cowan for the Browns' final tally. The play covered 62 yards, with Cowan gathering the ball in on the Baltimore 45 and streaking the rest of the way with excellent blocking.

All four extra points were booted by Lou (The Toe) Groza.

Canfield Races Postponed

CANFIELD, Aug. 30—With the Canfield Fair holding sway at the Mahoning County Fairgrounds this week, the Saturday night midget auto racing program will not be held. The next program will be Sept. 6 when one of the largest fields of midget cars and drivers will be in attendance.

Leaves should be removed from the lower part of stems of cut roses to prevent their decaying in water.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—With the Giants about to break the major league home run record, Johnny Mize threatening Babe Ruth's mark and pitchers coming up with an epidemic of sore arms from trying to stop the sluggers, there seems to be little doubt that the 1947 baseball is somewhat livelier than its immediate predecessors. The condition of pitching staffs is the clinching argument. They must have been bearing down harder and more often to produce so many sore salary wings at the same stage of the season. All of which leads this department to wonder why baseball rules don't specify just how lively a ball should be. A golf ball, for instance, must have a velocity of no more than 250 feet per second on a testing apparatus: The "bounce" of tennis and basket balls must come within certain definite limits. If such tests ever have been made with baseballs, the results should be included among the game's numerous other statistics.

Colorful Item.

Don Sandifer, Louisana State U. wingback and clown diver for the LSU aquacade, seems to qualify without question as the college boy's Jimmy Demaret. Don's garb on an ordinary day, reports Tub Thumper Jim Corbett, consists of powder blue slacks, red and yellow canvas shoes, wide-striped silk shorts (which don't show, of course), an orange sport shirt with a lemon-yellow tie, a purple striped sport coat and a feather-tipped fedora. Because of competition involving socks, he doesn't wear any.

Gridders Average 160-165; Open At Burgettstown; 2 Injuries Cited

Concluding two weeks of pre-season practice, the 1947 Chester High School eleven which launches the season next Friday night at Burgettstown, is taking shape, James "Duke" O'Hara, new Purple and Gold mentor, announced.

Successor to the veteran Max Tuttle who resigned to accept the principalship at Central Elementary School, Coach O'Hara said eight lettermen, five of them holdover regulars, definitely "form the core" of his first eleven.

The backfield will tip the Fairbanks at a 165-pound average and the line at approximately 160, and although there're no speed demons among them, they can move.

Probably the final lengthy scrimmage before the opener at Burgettstown will be held Labor Day morning, he said. The twice-a-day workout routine ended yesterday. Starting Tuesday, first day of school, the squad of 35 will drill each day beginning at about 4 p. m.

Virtually certain to face the kick-off in the first of the eight-game schedule, are Victor Reed at quarterback, Bill Erlitz at left half, Jim Allison at right half and George Smith at full. Erlitz was a regular last fall and the other three leather luggers earned their letters.

Guards John Chaney and David Rigby are back to claim their first-string berths and apparently have them won for the inaugural, and End Harold West and Tackle Jim Jacobs also have retained their starting posts.

Newcomers to the first team, but all with some reserve experience, are Don McAvoy at center, Dale Weaver at one of the terminals and Herb Cheveron at the tackle opposite Jacobs.

The line, the new mentor explained, "is fairly weak in spots" but probably will be adjusted before the season starts.

Pushing the starting backfield are Seniors Bill Owens and Dudley Wehner, while Cecil Collins is "showing up well" at center and Gene Davis and Dick Miller at guards.

Injuries have shelved two other promising candidates. Tony Bernardi, 155-pound junior, had been looking good until he was sidelined with a shoulder injury. He'll be out indefinitely, Coach O'Hara predicted.

And Joe Simcox, 135-pound sophomore, who had caught the eye of the new coach in early workouts, sustained a twisted knee and will be hospitalized for several weeks.

It appears the 1947 Purple and Gold will field a fairly strong first team, with good replacements lacking at most positions.

Lost by graduation last June were Bob Allison, Clayton Hobbs and Jack Huff, backs, and James Adams, Harley Davis and Dick Gilliland, linemen.

Four of the games this season will be played at Smith Field, with two of the games away slated as nocturnal engagements. Arch rival, Newell will be encountered Oct. 4 at Smith Field.

The schedule:

Sept. 5—Burgettstown, away, (night).
Sept. 13—Lisbon, away.
Sept. 19 — Wellsville, away (night).
Sept. 27 — New Cumberland, home.
Oct. 4—Newell, home.
Oct. 11—Open.
Oct. 18—Bellaire St. John, home.
Oct. 25—Brookfield, home.
Nov. 1—Darlington, away.

Tight Games Mark Softball Play; 2 Tilts Monday

Edwin M. Knowles, Industrial League flag and playoff winners and one of the pre-tournament favorites, was bounced out of the Tri-State Softball tourney Friday by Industry, Pa., 3-1, as Cooper's Insurance of Liverpool racked up their second victory, eliminating Hall China, 4-2, to slash the starting field of 13 to six.

No games are scheduled today, but Waite Family of Chester and Pennova Lodge of Liverpool will meet Monday at 1:30 p. m. in their playoff of a protested game, and George's Pharmacy of Midland will take on American Legion Post 374 of this city in a second game starting at 2:45.

Tournament Director Don McGraw announced that due to darkness which has been halting the second games before they were finished, there'll be only one game for the remainder of the tournament starting next Tuesday.

Pete Noah limited Knowles to four hits yesterday, but Industry had to score twice in the seventh to break a 1-1 tie to eliminate the local favorite. Paul "Fireball" Smith was reached for five bingles, two in the seventh by Balser and Deem which were coupled with an error, two walks and a fielder's choice to sew up the game.

Ed Deem, Industry's right fielder nicked Smith for three of the five hits, including a triple and two singles. Johnny Higgins stroked two singles for Knowles who bunched hits by Smith, Ed Potts and Higgins in the fifth to tie it at 1-1 after Deem had scored in the first for the invaders. Industry played errorless ball while Knowles was charged with two muffs.

Floyd Robinson set down Hall China on two hits, a double by Moore and a single by Stull in the second game called at the end of the fifth because of darkness.

Second Baseman Stan Weirsbecki exploded a two-run homer in the three-run second for Cooper's to wipe out a Hall China 2-0 lead. Poloso doubled in the fifth off Lefty Bill Vaughn and scored the final tally. Vaughn gave up only four hits in another tight duel.

Ferello walked in the first for Halls and finally scored without a hit in the frame, and Vaughn walked in the second and scored on Stull's single for Halls' two points.

Cooper's also played airtight ball, Halls committed one error.

CINCINNATI'S JUNIORS MOVE TO LEGION FINAL

By The Associated Press.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30—Cincinnati's Robert E. Bentley Post was definitely in the driver's seat today in the American Legion's National Junior baseball tournament.

All the Ohioans had to do was sit back and wait for one of the two remaining contestants, Little Rock, Ark., or Manchester, N. H., to knock the other off.

Cincinnati clubbed Manchester's Sweeney post last night, 11-1, with George Moeller allowing the losers only four hits and Stew Hein pacing the attack with a homer and a single.

Cincinnati, unbeaten, on Sunday will meet the winner of today's Little Rock-Manchester tilt.

Treleven In 3-0 Win As Waite Blasts Ball

Bud Treleven shackled American Legion Post 374 of East Liverpool on two hits to hurl Chester Post 121 to a 3-0 shutout triumph Friday in the final game of the series semi-finals of the Tri-State League playoffs.

Chester will clash with the winner of the Weirton-Wellsburg series for the playoff crown starting next week. Liverpool had won the first of the series, 4-3, but dropped the second, 11-1.

Treleven fanned four and walked two to best his mound rival Buck McNicol who bowed for the second straight time to the Chester entry after beating them three times during the season. McNicol gave up only five safeties, three by Catcher Ralph Waite who blasted a triple and two doubles in three trips. He scored twice.

Liverpool never got a runner past second. It was a masterpiece by Treleven.

Waite doubled to lead off the first and scored on the "squeeze" play with Kenny Barnett laying down the bunt.

In the sixth successive doubles by Waite and Bob Bennett netted the second run, and the third and final was chalked up in the same frame on another squeeze play, with Bob Campbell bunting Bennett across.

Guy Sillince and Perry Cunningham nicked Treleven for Post 374's only safeties.

POTTER GRIDDER INJURED IN DRILL

Wilson, Sophomore Guard, Has Dislocated Kneecap

The first serious casualty in the East Liverpool High football camp during the pre-season drills occurred Friday morning when Harry Wilson, 155-pound promising guard, sustained a dislocation to the kneecap of his right leg while participating in blocking practice.

A tackle last season as a Plebe, Wilson was carried from Patterson Field on a stretcher and was taken to the City Hospital where X-rays are being taken to determine the extent of his injury. He was confined to the hospital last night.

Coach Roy Hodge, in explaining the accident, said "he must have hit a stone or just the ground because it happened to his 'outside knee'". He was practicing blocking fundamentals against two teammates when he suffered the injury.

Coach Hodge said the 15-year-old candidate would be lost to the squad "indefinitely".

Wilson was the second added to the hospital list since the Potters launched drills 10 days ago. Charles "Chuck" Williams, senior letterman and the No. 1 candidate for the left halfback spot, sprained an ankle, and although it was described as not serious the triple threat was withheld from the first scrimmage this morning.

Coach Hodge hung out the "no practice" sign for this afternoon and for Monday, but announced the two-a-day sessions will be resumed next Tuesday and will continue until school opens Sept. 9.

Liverpool Frosh Grid Candidates Report Tuesday

Candidates for the East Liverpool High freshman football team will report next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. at Patterson Field, Freshman Coach James Proctor announced today.

He also issued a call for freshman managers.

THAT CROOKED FURROW! For thousands of years, the ability to plow a straight furrow has been the mark of a good farmer. In more recent years, agriculturists have turned to contour plowing in crooked furrows to conserve the land. Here are two methods suggested by the University of Illinois in co-operation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. No. 1 is for a first plowing; No. 2 for use when last year's rows can be used as a guide in starting.

SHRIMP WAR WAGED BY TEXAS, LOUISIANA

By The United Press.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas and Louisiana have come to a stalemate temporarily in their shrimping war. The shrimp, a migrant, has shifted to Texas waters and brought his troubles with him.

Commercial shrimp fishermen of the two states are fighting over whether they shall be allowed to catch shrimp in each others' coastal waters.

In 1945 the Texas legislature passed a law skyrocketing the license fee for each boat operated by a non-resident shrimper to $2,500, in addition to a regular $15 license charge. The law was in retaliation for a similar one on the Louisiana books.

The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission now claims that about 60 boats supposedly owned by Texans are actually Lousiana boats in the name of a resident. The commission recently cancelled the licenses of some 60 other such boats.

In the state supreme court, hearings on a case brought by a Texan with a shrimp fleet against the non-resident law have been postponed until Oct. 22.

The case, one of three growing out of the shrimp feud, was appealed by the state directly to the supreme court after a lower court had issued a temporary injunction restraining Texas from enforcing its non-resident license law.

OLD COUNTRY DOCTOR CHARGED BY THE MILE

By The United Press.

DOTHAN, Ala. — People who passed Dr. John Owen driving his fine horse and gig over North Carolina's trails some 125 years ago, must have wondered about the strange bell contraption mounted over one wheel.

His grandson, R. P. Williams of Dothan, says it was one of the first—if not the first—speedometers ever used. Dr. Owen wasn't particularly interested in how fast he was going, but it meant money in his pocket to know how far he had traveled.

In the early 1800's a country doctor had a lot of traveling to do. Dr. Owen figured that it wasn't fair to charge a patient who lived "down the road a piece" as much as he would a sick persons who lived across the county, so he decided the practical thing to do would be to charge by the mile.

However, gigs didn't come equipped with speedometers in those days, so the doctor had to invent his own. He measured the distance his gig moved with one revolution of the wheel, and then figured the number of times the wheel turned in traveling a mile. Then he attached a device to the wheel to clock each revolution, and when he had traveled a mile a bell would ring.

Mr. Williams says his grandfather's device must have worked, for he practiced medicine in North Carolina for about 50 years and charged by the mile most of the time.

MAN WILLED $18,000 AS A 'FRIEND IN NEED'

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Aug. 30 — More than 30 years ago, Fred Haynes, a railroad man, befriended a young woman immigrant from Austria by helping her with financial problems in a restaurant she operated.

Today, Mr. Haynes has an $18,000 legacy because of his "loyal friendship and services".

Mrs. Katy Grisnik, the immigrant, made out a will leaving Mr. Haynes $18,000 last Sunday. She died Tuesday at the age of 52.

Mr. Haynes, now a deputy in the county clerk's office, said he was an early customer in Mrs. Grisnik's restaurant and helped her with tax and banking problems since she could not read or write English.

THREE TIED FOR LEAD IN WESTERN TOURNEY

By The Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 30—A physically-handicapped Michigan campaigner and two young war veterans who came home to a future on golf's gold circuit were outshooting the favorites today as the star-studded Western Open tournament entered the second round.

Out in front with five-under par 67s for the first 18-hole lap were Edward Furgol, the well-known Pontiac, Mich., youth with the short left arm; Al Smith, young navy veteran out of Winston Salem, N. C., and John Palmer, former B29 gunner from Bodin, N. C.

Arrayed behind these leaders were virtually all the nation's top pros and amateurs. Thirty-one cracked par in the opening round but a few, notably National Open Champion Lew Worsham of Washington, D. C., failed to go under the regulation 72.

One stroke back of the leaders was happy, rotund Ed "Porky" Oliver of Wilmington, Del., with a 68. Grouped at 69 were Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles; Bobby Locke, Johannesburg, South Africa; Jim Ferrier, San Francisco; Frank Stranahan, Toledo; Lloyd Mangrum, Los Angeles; Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa.; Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind.; Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich.; Jim Demaret, Houston, Tex.; Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., and Ray Weston, Portland, Ore.

8 KIDS MOVE NEARER CADDY TOURNEY TITLE

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Eight kids from Ohio, Michigan, Nebraska and Washington, D. C., were a step nearer the National Caddy golf championship—and a four-year college scholarship—today, but only two will be left in the running tonight.

The quarter and semi-finals of the second annual clash of the club-toters are on tap today at the Ohio State University course, with the 36-hole finals set for Sunday.

Heading the favorites is Bub Worsham, blond brother of National Open king Lew Worsham. The Washington, D. C., youngster came back from a four-hole deficit at the end of seven yesterday to tack one-up defeat on Tony Ondrus, three-time junior champion of Akron, in a thrill-packed match, and the locker room boys say that probably meant the championship.

Still in there scrapping were the No. 1 and No. 2 boys of the Central Ohio contingent, John Bernard and Jim Pollock of Columbus; Hugh Quinn, last of the Hamilton, O., delegation of four; Steve Hudak of Akron, who has won his matches by 4 and 3, 5 and 3 and 8 and 6 margins; Jim Dixon of Ypsilanti, Mich., a modest sharpshooter who insists all his victims have "had some tough breaks"; George Allmon, the top-notcher from Kansas City, and Ray Wythers of Lincoln, Neb.

Today's quarter-finals pitted Pollock and Dixon, Worsham and Bernard, Quinn and Hudak, and Allmon anw Wythers, and anything could happen as the youngsters, all 17 or under, battle it out.

Wythers pulled one of the tournament surprises in yesterday's second round when he ousted Tom Romolo of Denver, the only left-hander in the field, by a 3 and 2 count, while Dixon defeated by 4 and 3 slim Roger Dunn of Los Angeles, protege of Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

In the other third-round matches Quinn needed 21 holes to defeat Don Young of Omaha, Neb.; Bernard ousted Wayne Barrett of Hamilton by 4 and 3; Hudak smothered Bill Cox of Overland, Mo., 8 and 6; and Allmon breezed to a 5 and 4 victory over Walter Knych of Yorkville, N. Y.

TRAFFIC DEATHS RISE THIRD MONTH IN ROW

By The United Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—The nation slowly is losing the battle against traffic accidents, the National Safety Council said Friday.

The council said that July traffic deaths totaled 2,750, an increase of 8 per cent over the same month last year. It was the third straight month that the death toll increased.

The upward trend is especially alarming because the most hazardous time of year is just approaching, the council said.

Salt in some form is absolutely essential to human life. It is possible to live without actually using salt in the food, but in such cases it is necessary to eat a large amount of food rich in mineral element.

Making Holiday Trip? Highway Patrol Urges You Take Precautions

By International News Service.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Make certain your automobile is in good mechancial condition, plan your trip so you have plenty of time, observe and obey all traffic control signs and signals and don't take any unnecessary chances.

These were the main points stressed by Col. George Mingle, head of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, in an appeal for careful driving over the three-day Labor Day week end.

Col. Mingle warned that "unless there is a radical departure from the two previous three-day holiday week ends in 1947", between 200 and 300 persons will lose their lives in accidents throughout the United States.

He said Ohio's contribution to the death toll will approximate 10 to 15 persons. In addition, he warned that generally between 125 and 150 persons are injured over such a week end.

"Each motorist should attempt to see he is not one of these victims," Col. Mingle warned.

Truman Names Gen. Draper Undersecretary Of War

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—President Truman Friday named Maj. Gen. William H. Draper Jr. of Scarsdale, N. Y., undersecretary of war and announced his choice of five others for key positions in the new unified defense setup.

Gen Draper, now in Washington as Gen. Lucius Clay's representative at the conference with the British on Ruhr coal, was given a recess appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Kenneth Royall to secretary of war.

Gen. Draper will become undersecretary of the Army when the armed services' unification actually goes into being next month after Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal is sworn in as secretary of defense.

The White House said Mr. Truman has selected the following officials for the new defense establishment. Their appointments will be announced formally when Mr. Forrestal takes the oath:

Arthur M. Hill of Charleston, W. Va., now chairman of the board of the Atlantic Greyhound Corp., as chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Sidney W. Souers, a native of Dayton, O., and retired rear-admiral, as executive secretary of the National Security Council. He is a former director of the Central Intelligence Agency and now is engaged in private business with firms in Atlanta and St. Louis.

Rear-Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, a native of St. Louis, as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. He occupies that position under the present setup of the armed forces.

Thomas J. Hargrave, president of the Eastman Kodak Co., as chairman of the Munitions Board.

Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, a native of Platte Center, Neb., whose home is now in Omaha, as director of the joint staff of the joint chiefs of staff. The White House said this appointment was made by the joint chiefs of staff and the President merely announced it for them.

Mr. Truman previously had announced Mr. Forrestal's selection for the top post in the unified organization and later announced the appointments of John L. Sullivan as secretary of the navy, Mr. Royall as secretary of war, later to become secretary of the army, and W. Stuart Symington, secretary for air.

Several appointments still are to be made to complete the organization, including a chairman of the Research and Development Board and several important assignments under the new Air Department.

August is the peak month for motor travel in the United States, but the peak in traffic accidents is in December.

Sentenced, Discharged

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—Harold E. Hirshberg, 29, chief Navy signalman convicted of striking two fellow prisoners of war of the Japanese, has been sentenced to serve 10 months at the U. S. naval retraining command at Norfolk, Va., and then to be dishonorably discharged from the Navy, the Navy announced Friday.

The fuchsia was first discovered by a missionary priest in South American at the turn of the 18th century, and was named in honor of a German botanist named Fuchs.

400,000 Left Feet that never push a clutch!

GM HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE has been proved by nearly 400,000 Oldsmobile owners in billions of miles of "no-clutch, no-shift" driving!

400,000 left feet . . . left without a thing to do! Because Hydra-Matic Drive eliminates the clutch pedal and all clutch pushing. 400,000 right hands . . . on the steering wheel where they belong! Because Hydra-Matic Drive shifts gears automatically—makes manual shifting a thing of the past!

That's the story of convincing proof that lies behind the GM Hydra-Matic Drive of today. Oldsmobile first introduced this revolutionary advancement almost 8 years ago! And since then, nearly 400,000 owners of Hydra-Matic Oldsmobiles have driven literally billions of miles—without ever pushing a clutch!

After these 8 years, Hydra-Matic Drive is still the only "drive" that eliminates the clutch pedal and shifts gears automatically through four forward speeds. The lowest-priced car to offer GM Hydra-Matic Drive* is the smart new Oldsmobile. It's ahead in performance —automatically. Ahead in appearance —dramatically. That's why people are saying, "It's SMART to Own an Olds!"
